A trip to San Antonio isn't complete without visiting the historic old King William neighborhood. And there is no better way to see and relive the elegance of the past than by staying at the Alamo Street Victorian Bed & Breakfast Inn.

Located at 951 South Alamo Street, this lovely restored gem provides the perfect location for enjoying a San Antonio. It is a short two-block walk from one of San Antonio's well-kept secrets – the beautiful, natural, non-commercialized section of the Riverwalk. Here, visitors enjoy the park like setting of the river and wildlife before arriving downtown. For those who prefer to ride, the downtown trolley stops just outside the door and at the convention center, Alamo and other downtown locations. With complimentary parking and easy access to all major roads, Alamo Street Victorian Inn provides guests the best location for seeing all of San Antonio.

Alamo Street Victorian is a relative newcomer to the neighborhood. Although it was built in the late 1800s, and even had Pancho Villa as an occasional guest, it was moved to its current location in 1997. The largest private home ever moved in San Antonio, the extensive renovation – both inside and out – resulted in a lovely, elegant structure filled with luxurious amenities and brand new facilities.

Six elegant guest accommodations cater to comfort and desire. Guests choose bedrooms or two room suites, with Jacuzzi whirlpool tubs, or an oversized marble shower, a fireplace and queen or king beds. High-backed antique bedsteads with custom mattresses, designer bedding, soft guest robes and bedside chocolates provide a calming atmosphere.

In addition, the library, card /game room and spacious verandahs are available for quiet times, board games and conversation. The library offers comfortable sofas and antique library cabinets filled with books, magazines, satellite television and movies. Guests often curl up on the leather sofas to watch movies with a fresh bag of popped corn. Wi-Fi, a guest computer, guest microwave and refrigerator are also always available. Hot and cold beverages, snacks, fresh fruit, great cookies and complimentary wine at sunset encourage guests to feel “at home”.

No scheduling is necessary for breakfast. Sleep in or depart for an early appointment. A light breakfast is available from 7:00 until 10:00 am in the dining room. Guests are welcome to have breakfast in bed, out on the breezy verandah or in the library in addition to the dining room.

Romantic, Victorian weddings are held in the spacious King William Room. With direct access to the huge verandah, the bay windows and stained glass provide a lovely backdrop for wedding ceremonies. Receptions and parties for up to 50 guests can be arranged. Specializing in beautiful yet reasonably priced weddings, Alamo Street Victorian’s wedding consultant will arrange every detail. Ask about our “Just the Two of You” package.

Special Events deserve extraordinary treatment. Romantic touches range from scattered rose petals, long stemmed roses and chocolate truffles to brightly colored balloons and birthday cakes. For additional pampering, couple and single massages are available and include Swedish, Deep Tissue and Hot Stone.

Proprietors Robbi and Dan Boone and their daughter, Carrie own and run the inn year round and are here to see to your every need.
